Please read these guidelines carefully before submitting your entry.

DEADLINE:
09:00 BST Thursday 16th June 2016

BACKGROUND

Few sporting occasions match the drama, intensity and excitement of a live Formula 1 Grand Prix. For those at an F1 event it is a visceral opportunity to witness first-hand the most talented racing drivers compete at the highest level in the most sophisticated racing cars in the world, driving for legendary and revered racing teams on world-class circuits in glamorous international locations.

Every race weekend, hundreds of millions of fans follow the race action on their televisions and internet connected devices. While these channels have become more engaging over the years, opportunities to explore and experiment with new and evolving technologies are always present. This is particularly the case given Formula One's inherent ethos of relentless and constant improvement.

Virtual Reality (VR) and Augmented Reality (AR) are two such immersive and emerging technologies that should be evaluated.

THE CHALLENGE

For the 2016 F1 Connectivity Innovation Prize, Formula One Management and Tata Communications invite entrants to help design an end to end VR/AR solution that brings an increasingly immersive Formula 1 Grand Prix experience to fans not at the live event.

Your challenge is to design and recommend the right framework, walkthrough and devices that should be used for creating this virtual experience and the enabling technology solution to deliver this. This experience should enable the user to virtually explore other areas around the track from the convenience of their home.

You are also required to create a distribution plan for the experience to reach users across the globe in the best possible manner.

THE SOLUTION REQUIRED

Your solution should include the following components:

User experience journey and how this will be captured

- The users' perspective; what would a user see or experience?
- Near live and recorded multimedia elements which will make up the experience
- Hardware to capture these elements trackside. This may include, but is not limited to cameras and other equipment or platforms required to enable your solution

Reach & distribution of the experience to the fans

- The processes to distribute the virtual experience
- End user device interfaces, the platform or technology, the applications required by a user for the experience
- How the content would be made available to fans across the globe

The following is a list of locations that can be used for the experience:

- Paddock
- Paddock Entrance
- Pit Lane
- Formula One Paddock Club
- Drivers' Parade
- Grid Formation before the start of the race
- The F1 Village

Additional Guidelines:

- You must restrict yourself to a maximum of three cameras for any video elements that are proposed in your solution
- The cameras can, however, be moved to different locations at different stages of the F1 event
- Live race action is not available for the virtual experience

SUBMISSION

Your submission should be made as a single document uploaded to the F1 Connectivity Innovation Prize website in either PDF or Word format.

The document must contain the following elements:

a) A written proposal of no more than 1,000 words broken down into three sections:

1. Overview of your solution (up to 500 words)
2. Summary of the key features of your solution (up to 200 words)
3. The technology behind your solution (up to 300 words)

b) The text can be supported with up to three visuals outlining the proposed interface design (only the first three visuals in each application will be considered as a part of an entry)

Entries will close at 09:00 BST on Thursday 16th June 2016 and the F1 Connectivity Innovation Prize website will no longer accept uploads after this time. The Finalists of Challenge 1 will be announced on or around Tuesday 5th July 2016.

EVALUATION CRITERIA

Proposals should address the following six key criteria that will provide the basis for the judges' decision-making:

1. Innovation & creativity

Judges will give clear preference to submissions that clearly show unique propositions with innovative thought and creative application.

2. Technical content

The technical dimension of your submission should demonstrate a clear understanding of the technical architecture required to deliver the proposed solution. While only high-level detail is required, applications should reference any proprietary technologies used and outline the function and specification of any bespoke development.

3. Quality of material and input

Due regard will be given to the quality of each submission, the clarity and presentation of concepts and the degree to which objectives are clearly stated and met in both written and visual materials. In addition, evidence of underlying research to validate concepts will also be rewarded.

4. Originality of solution

One of the key criteria for the F1 Connectivity Innovation Prize is to demonstrate original thought that has the potential to deliver a transformative impact on the end-users of your proposals. This is the single most important criterion in the evaluation of your submission and an explicit statement of originality is strongly encouraged.

5. Feasibility of solution

Judges will make a viability assessment of each submission and applicants are encouraged to clearly outline the feasibility case from a technical perspective for their concept (no statement of financial viability is required).

6. Understanding of the challenge and proposed solution

Conformity to the brief is essential and applicants are reminded that any content that falls outside of the stipulated challenge requirements cannot be rewarded.
